1. The Central Committee of the Yugoslav Communist Party has appointed an "inquiry commission" to sound out the opinion of all Central Committee members, on a republic level, relative to the stand that the Yugoslav Government should take concerning the Korean question. Although Yugoslav leaders are confronted with a serious dilemma, up to the present time opinion has reportedly been sharply divided between eventual open support to the Security Council decision and strict adherence to the Communist line. Ales Bebler and Edvard Kardelj are seeking a way out whereby the Security Council decision may be supported without endangering the Communist ideology. Milovan Djilas and Aleksandar Rankovic have expressed their strong opposition to Kardelj's secret approval of Security action, of which Kardelj had informed United States Ambassador Allen.
2. Secret emergency meetings of the Central Committee of the Yugoslav Communist Party have reportedly been called for 10 July 1950.
